At Permen Homes, there is more to farming than raising quality crops and livestock for commercial gain. We approach farming as a bridge to inspirational living. Faith and family are central to what we do, and how we do it. Behind our strategy for optimising productivity and profit across Freeman Farms™ is the noble goal of driving sustainable community leadership and transformation.

Built within our farming model, are principles that serve to transform the mindset of our farm workers from one of servant workers to servant leaders. That is because our management and staff have something in common – we see ourselves as partners in community leadership and transformation. Our team building sessions have developed into Staff Associations for Leadership and Transformation (S.A.L.T)

Freeman Farms™ are designed as centres of Leadership for Inspirational Farm Enterprises (LIFE). From our model farms, we inspire the nation with covenant words and works for wholesome relationships. Farming families from far and near who visit our farms takeaway with them something far greater than an education or safari experience. They leave with a spirit of excellence and a vision for victorious living.

In line with the Great Commission, we are continuously looking out for partners of like-vision to spread the life-changing model of Freeman Farms™ across the nation. Are you keen to make a generational difference in your community through farming and hospitality? We'd like to hear from you. You could be our next S.A.L.T Partner, and your farm the next LIFE Centre in Uganda.
